

Equal opportunity cell Report 2016-2017

The equal opportunity cell of this college envisions to cater to the less privileged groups and offers learning programs and creative sessions so as to improve their talents and acknowledge their skills. Programs are charted with this intention.

- With the success of last year's creative workshop it was clear that students benefit much out of it and the cell decided to retain it as one of its chief programmes. A group of students were selected and writing sessions were organised. Training was imparted to improve the language skills. Faculty from the department of English monitored the activities.
- As an outcome a manuscript magazine was prepared with varied articles and poems written by the participants. The collection was titled "Lunch time 12.30pm" and was released in an official function. Ms.Faiza was the student editor.
- Another important aim of EOC, is to ensure that persons (students, staff, faculties or the community) from diverse backgrounds of community, religion, region, gender or ability are not deprived of their rightful opportunities. They get access to all pedagogical and extra-curricular resources; which will promote inclusivity and harmony.
- With this aim in focus EOC in tie up with Department of English conducted an Art Expo "Equal Opportunity for All" on Friday, 9th December, 2016 as part of International Human Rights Day celebration. The exhibits run into an extensive range of collage, installations, artworks, and origami crafts. The displays were categorized into six groups each harping on a particular issue. The broader areas chosen for inspection were Tackling Gender Issues, Resolving Racism, Shouldering the Disabled, Sustainability of Nature And Man, Supporting the Marginalized and Success Stories. The indigenously prepared artefacts and paper hoardings that adorned the walls of the vast college corridor highlighted the magnitude and importance of these issues. The spectators were provided leaflets and were asked to record their impressions on the subject. The artefacts, write-ups and charts were prepared by the students of Ist year Bsc Physics and Bsc. Mathematics. The exhibition was inaugurated by Prof. Shaji Pathrose of the Dept. of English. Equal Opportunity Cell Coordinator Prof. Susan Joshi gave an introductory Address. It was followed by the screening of short films and a panel discussion pertaining to the issues.

In

HUMAN RIGHTS DAY CELEBRATION

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

An Art Expo with collage , installations and words

@ the corridor downstairs

Friday , 9th December, 2016

CATEGORIES

1. Tackling Gender Issues
2. Resolving Racism
3. Shouldering the Disabled
4. Sustainability of Nature And Man
5. Supporting the Marginalized
6. Survivors: Success Stories

Organised by
Equal Opportunity Cell